

UNION OF CHURCH IS DRAWING NEAR

Every Live Christian Hopes and Believes It Will Soon
Come.

TWO METHODIST SECTS GETTING CLOSE TOGETHER

Both Seeking Same End, Rituals
the Same; Why Remain
Apart?

BY V. D. FRANCIS.

By Licensed Writer to The Tribune.
NEW YORK, June 11.—I suppose you have noticed that these letters frequently contain allusions to the spirit of "hopeful discontent." If I may be allowed to use such a paradoxical expression, which is continually manifesting itself in regard to the divisions which exist among Christians. I say "discontent," because who is really contented where a family is broken up by disagreements, and what is the real "church" unless it be the Heavenly Father's family? And then I call it "hopeful discontent," because I believe that every real, live Christian today is full of the confident hope that it will be long before the misunderstandings of the past shall be done away with. Perhaps it will come about in this generation. An expression that the Methodist Protestant and Methodist Episcopal churches may be joined in the near future was voiced by the Rev. Dr. Hulsart, pastor of the Madison Park Methodist Protestant church, during the closing hours of the Paterson district conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which was held recently at Trinity church, Dr. Hulsart was among the guests, and displayed such an interest in the proceedings that he was asked to lead one of the devotional services. It was at the close of the prayer that Dr. Hulsart, pastor of the Madison Park Methodist Protestant church, said: "We are seeking the same end," he said, "and our rituals are the same, and any reason why we should remain apart? In union there is strength. Let us stand together." The ovation he received at the close of his remarks, and the fact that the Methodist Episcopal clergymen are in favor of a combination.

Has Borne Fruit.
The results of the enthusiastic wave of missionary fervor which swept over the whole country during the past winter are being shown in many ways. How has it affected you, my kind reader? Has it touched your mind or your heart or your pocketbook, or possibly all three? I am sure you will be interested to know what has been going on "the other side of the church." Three women and two men were graduated from the Missionary Training school of Brooklyn, the other day. The exercises were held at the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church, the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, president of the board of Christian education, presiding. Members of the class comprised Miss Henkelmann, from California, Canada, who will be sent by the Methodist board to Alaska; Miss Maria Ellen Higgins of Trenton, N. J., who will teach for the Baptist Missionary association in the Southern college, Jackson, Miss; Miss Lucy Howe, graduate of Boston, Mass.; Alfred Wiebe of Whitewater, Kan., who will take a post-graduate course under the Mennonite board, and Robert Carl Young of Colby, Kan., who will go to Africa for the Methodist board of missions.

Degrees Conferred to Nuns.
During the middle ages education was a very different matter from what it is today. How impossible it is for the average young American to take in the idea of going through life without the religious chance of an opportunity to have to read or to take this examination, where the education may be easily secured are a very new idea. In the days of long ago it was in the religious institutions that learning was kept alive. It is interesting to see that the old traditions have not suffered in the modern development of the educational idea. Archbishop John M. Farley recently conferred the degree of bachelor of arts upon seven young nuns and twelve girl graduates at the College of New Rochelle, formerly the College of St. Ann. This is the first time a degree has been conferred upon a nun.

Bishop Doane of Albany, N. Y., has long been an enthusiastic advocate of the religious conference or "congress," as it is called, which without any official status in the religious body to which it belongs, nevertheless has met at stated intervals for many years. It was in his diocese that the recent congress was held. The twenty-eighth national congress of the church brought to Troy a distinguished gathering for the opening services. Bishop Nelson of Albany was eloquent. Dr. Balcock of New York, the general chairman of the congress, was eloquent. Dr. Garstensen, episcopate, the sermon was by Bishop Lloyd of Virginia, and dealt with the transcendence of Christ over the material world.

No Debating Society.
In speaking of this congress, the Litton Church, published in Chicago, has the following: "That another constructive session of the church congress has been held is a matter for congratulation to those who have the direction of that organization. It is not easy to keep up interest in the church, when party strife runs low, when speakers are scrupulously polite to one another, and when individuals, who could represent only themselves, are carefully excluded from the program. But though sessions thus characterized may be disappointing to the headliner, who dearly loves an ecclesiastical fight, even to whom a heresy speech ranks as the same level with a prize fight or the delivery of a state senator, they are immeasurably more useful to the church. Happily, American clergymen no longer dread the approach of a church congress. We believe the management acted wisely in refusing to open the platform to speakers other than churchmen. It is, of course, perfectly legitimate for churchmen, or others, whether Christians or pagans, to create public questions, whether they be such as divide the two classes of speakers or whether there would be a probability of both occupying a common ground. But to change the church congress into such a debating society would be the abdication of its avowed purpose."

Sailor's Snug Harbor.
One of the many institutions which have grown immensely rich through the increase in value of the lands which were given them a hundred or more years ago is what is known as "Sailor's Snug Harbor," in Staten Island, New York City. It is reported that the income from whole blocks of buildings in the older parts of New York City go to the maintenance of the old "Sailor's," who come to end their days in the "Snug Harbor." A few days ago an interesting ceremony occurred when a new chapel was dedicated for the use of the patients in the hospital. The ceremonies were conducted by the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, rector of the St. Paul's Episcopal church, assisted by Rev. Dr. Talmay, chaplain of Sailors' Snug Harbor.

Salary of Ministers.
That young men who go into the Christian ministry do so in the hope of financial reward is very clearly shown in a recent census bulletin. The average annual salary of ministers of the gospel is but $623 in all the denominations. The denomination showing the highest average is the Unitarian, with $1022, while the denominations next in order are the Protestant Episcopal church, $1242; the Universalists, $1228; the General Convention of the New Jerusalem in the United States of America, $1233; the Jewish congregations, $1222; the Presbyterian church in the United States of America, $1170; the United Presbyterian church of North America, $1096; the Congregationalists, $1042; the Christian Catholic church in Zion, $937, and the synod of the Reformed Presbyterian church of North America, $1008. In the Northern Baptist convention the average for cities of the first-class is $1850 and for the area outside of the principal cities, $683. The figures for the Methodist Episcopal church from $1422 for cities of the first-class to $1187 for those of the fourth class.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATION.
An examination for Salt Lake City teachers will be held at the Lafayette school building on Monday and Tuesday, June 13 and 14, beginning at 9 a. m. of the first day.
All teachers and candidates not holding certificates valid for 1910-1911 are expected to take this examination.
Candidates for high school certificates will please notify the undersigned not later than Thursday, June 9.
Pens, ink and paper will be furnished.
D. H. CHRISTENSEN,
Chairman Board of Examiners.
